ORDER

On March 15, 2013 Complainant Meagan Sprandel (“Sprandel”) filed a complaint against her employer, Respondent Xerillion Corporation, for discrimination based on her perceived disability, in violation of the Cook County Human Rights Ordinance. The Cook County Commission on Human Rights (“Commission”) has not yet made an evidence determination with respect to this matter, but on May 7, 2014, the Commission received a fully executed Withdrawal Request Form (“Request”) from Sprandel.

Pursuant to the Commission’s Procedural Rules:

A Complainant may request to withdraw a Complaint or any part thereof at any time. A Complainant’s request to withdraw a Complaint shall be in writing and shall be signed by the Complainant or his/her attorney of record. Under such circumstances, the request may be presumed to be knowingly and voluntarily made, and the Commission may approve the request and enter an order dismissing the Complaint.

CCHR Pro. R. 420.160.

The Request, which was signed by Sprandel, states that she “no longer wish[es] to pursue this matter.” Additionally, in the Request, Sprandel attests that she is making her request to withdraw voluntarily and without pressure from any organization or individual.

For the foregoing reasons, the Commission hereby grants Sprandel’s request to withdraw her complaint and orders that complaint 2013E010 be DISMISSED pursuant to a VOLUNTARY WITHDRAWAL.
