WILDLIFE DISEASE MONITORING AND MESOCARNIVORE DYNAMICS: MANAGEMENT IMPLICATIONS

Proposal Objectives/Activities:

- Disease Monitoring will be conducted each year, with livetrapping and sampling of medium-sized mammals that are known to serve as bio-monitors for a wide range of pathogens. In addition, data analysis from concluding surveys from the previous contract and manuscript preparation for peer-reviewed journals will continue each year of the contract.
- Monitoring of coyote behavior and disease ecology will be conducted each year. Coyotes potentially threaten human safety through direct attacks and transmission of disease, so it is important to monitor their behavior and disease prevalence to assess human risk. We will continue to estimate population vital rates (reproduction, survival, local densities) to determine if the population is still growing, or if it changes its growth trajectory. This monitoring will continue for each year of the contract, in addition to the development and publication of literature and website material for the general public.
- In addition to on-going monitoring of the coyote population, research will focus on the experimental removal of coyotes from chronic problem areas/Cook County forest preserves. The removal research will begin in late 2012 and continue through 2014. Analysis of data and manuscript preparations on disease dynamics will be conducted in all years.
- The TNR cat/mesocarnivore research project will conclude at the end of 2013. Analysis of the field data will continue through 2014, and we will develop and submit peer-reviewed manuscripts from this project through 2014.
- We will initiate a new research project on the population dynamics and movement patterns of raccoons in the urban core of Chicago in 2013. This will involve mark-recapture techniques, blood surveys, and GPS monitoring of movement patterns to identify their space and habitat use. Fieldwork will continue for 3 years, at least 1 year will be needed for data analysis, and the development of peer-reviewed publications.

STATEMENT OF PROBLEM

A majority of emerging infectious diseases are associated with wildlife species worldwide. Wildlife may either serve as vectors or reservoirs of various pathogens that threaten the well-being of people and domestic animals. Within urban areas, people and pets are particularly at risk because wildlife populations become altered and exposure is potentially elevated because of close proximity between people and wild animals. In addition to disease, there have been increases in the numbers of large carnivores in urban areas, and these species may impact people and pets through attacks, as well as disease. The proposed work seeks to 1) maintain current monitoring efforts with radiotelemetry, necropsy, and serology, while 2) also completing current research on the role of free-ranging cats in the community dynamics of native mesocarnivores, particularly with respect to disease dynamics, and 3) investigating new areas of research related to the focus on wildlife disease. The new area of research is the population dynamics and movement patterns of raccoons residing in the urban core, and removal effects on coyote-human conflicts. These are presented in more detail below.

- Disease Monitoring will be conducted each year, with livetrapping mesocarnivores and collecting serum samples. In addition, data analysis and manuscript preparation for peer-reviewed journals will continue each year.
- Monitoring of coyote behavior and disease ecology will be conducted each year. Coyotes potentially threaten human safety through direct attacks and transmission of disease, so it is important to monitor their behavior and disease prevalence to assess human risk. In addition to on-going monitoring, research will focus on the experimental removal of coyotes from chronic problem areas/Cook County forest preserves. The removal research will begin in late 2012 and continue through 2014. Analysis of data and manuscript preparations on disease dynamics will be conducted in all years.
- The TNR cat/mesocarnivore research project will continue fieldwork through 2012 and finish at the end of 2013. Analysis and publications will continue through 2014.
- We will initiate a research project on the population dynamics and movement patterns of raccoons in the urban core in 2013. Fieldwork will continue for 3 years.

1. DISEASE MONITORING

BACKGROUND/JUSTIFICATION

Wildlife disease is of great importance to the health and safety of humans and domestic animals, with 73% of emerging and reemerging pathogens are known to be zoonotic (transmitted from animals to people). There is increasing evidence suggesting that urbanization and resultant land-use changes contribute to the emergence of wildlife diseases through multiple mechanisms, with consequences for human and pet health. In light of the increasingly close association between wildlife and humans in Cook County, the need for surveillance and proactive research is needed to guide and interlink human health and wildlife management programs with the goal of limiting the risk of human exposure to zoonotic diseases.

The following provides a summary of recent surveillance and research on wildlife species in Cook County that pose important health risks for people and pets.

Raccoons

The raccoon is one of the most common mammalian species in Cook County, and at times reaches overabundant densities. Previous research from this program determined raccoon densities can reach higher than 100 raccoons per km² in favorable habitats within the Chicago metropolitan area. Because of their generalist lifestyle, raccoons represent an effective indicator of many diseases and environmental contaminants, many of which can impact people and pets. One of the most alarming diseases is rabies, but raccoons can also host leptospirosis, canine distemper, canine parvovirus, among many other diseases.

We have continued this surveillance to determine if these pathogens are changing in frequency or virulence. We currently have testing underway for samples collected during 2011-2012.

Pathogen	2005-2006		2008-2009
	n	% Positive	n	% Positive
Canine distemper	564	39	64	17
Canine Parvovirus	564	51	64	50

Coyotes

We have been monitoring coyotes in Cook County continuously since 2000. We have tested coyotes for sero-positive rates for canine distemper, canine parvovirus, toxoplasmosis, heartworm, and leptospirosis. We also monitor disease via necropsy of dead coyotes, such as for sarcoptic mange. We currently have testing underway for samples collected during 2011 and 2012.

Domestic Cat

We have used serology and necropsy to identify pathogens in the wildlife community in Cook County. We have tested 129 free-ranging domestic cats for Toxoplasmosis, FeLV, FIV, and heartworm. The following table reports the percentage of individuals found to be seropositive for those pathogens during 2008-2010. Approximately 40% of the cats are positive for toxoplasmosis, and this has been consistent among years. FeLV has not been detected in the cats to date, and FIV has ranged from 2% to 9% across years. Heartworm was a relatively high 8% during 2008-2009, but we did not detect a positive animal in 2010.

Serology and Necropsy

All radiocollared carnivores will be assessed through physical condition at time of capture, and seroprevalence for feline distemper, toxoplasmosis, etc., and necropsies at the time of death. Necropsies will also provide information on parasite loads. Standard analyses, such as logistic models, will be used to assess covariate relationships with positive exposure or infection.

2. COYOTE MONITORING AND REMOVAL

Background/Justification

Coyotes have greatly expanded their geographic range across North America, and have recently become top predators in many metropolitan areas. Their success in urban areas has important ecological implications, and is a potential threat to the health and well-being of people and their pets. Attacks on pets have occurred across the U.S., and attacks on people have become relatively more noticeable in the last 15 years. However, the actual risk posed by coyotes is poorly understood by the general public, and a lack of reliable information typically results in responses borne of emotion in homeowners and decision-makers. Understanding the ecology of coyotes in urban landscapes, and human responses to their presence, is crucial for developing effective responses on the threats coyotes pose to people and pets in metropolitan areas. The number of human-coyote conflicts in the Cook County area increased dramatically during the 1990's, and has remained at a constant level since then, as indicated by the number of coyotes removed as nuisances from the Chicago metropolitan area.

Number of coyotes trapped by nuisance wildlife control operators in the Chicago Region

Source: Illinois Department of Natural Resources

We have been monitoring the coyote population since 2000 to determine population characteristics that may help minimize conflicts and guide management programs, in addition to surveillance for zoonotic diseases.

During January – November 2011, we radiotracked 67 coyotes, including 30 coyotes captured and radiocollared in 2009 and the remainder captured in previous years. During this period, we recorded over 5,000 radiolocations. In 2011, we captured 61 coyotes, and continued to record over 5,000 locations. Overall, we have captured and monitored 572 coyotes since 2000, making this the most extensive urban coyote project in the nation.

Mortalities

From 2000 to June 2011, we have recorded 157 mortalities of radio-marked coyotes, with the primary causes of death including collisions with vehicles (73, including one train and one plane), shot or trapped (38), mange (12), and the rest unknown where the cause of death could not be identified. Coyotes that are trapped or shot include those that are legally hunted in many cases, poached in a few cases, and removed as nuisances. To date, only 5 marked animals have been trapped or shot as nuisances.

We have also collected 129 unmarked coyotes for additional surveillance. These include animals found dead by research staff, road crews, or homeowners, or others that are removed by nuisance wildlife control professionals. We are currently attempting to compare physical characteristics of nuisance coyotes to the population at large with the goal of identifying what characteristics may contribute to conflicts.

This continues the monitoring of the coyote population to evaluate the land use of coyotes with respect to human activity areas, to determine the causes of human-coyote conflicts, and to assess the prevalence of certain diseases that can be transmitted from coyotes to domestic animals or people.

Movements and Habitat Use -We propose continuing the livetrapping and radiocollaring of coyotes on a reduced basis so that we can monitor coyote movement and habitat use to determine if shifts in coyote behavior are occurring with respect to conflicts with people, in addition to disease monitoring. Therefore, our methods of capture and radiotracking will follow our previous work. We also will continue to collect blood samples for serology, which provides surveillance as well as providing more power to tests to model the dynamics of certain pathogens. Currently, serology includes tests for Canine Distemper, Canine Parvovirus, Toxoplasmosis, Heartworm, and Leptospirosis.

Removal Tests -We will test the effectiveness of removal of select coyotes for reducing human-coyote conflicts. This will involve the selection of 8 forest preserves where conflicts have been reported over multiple years. At each of these study sites, 2-3 coyotes will be livetrapped and fitted with radiocollars. Radiotracking will take place for at least 3-4 months prior to removal to document movement patterns and social relationships of coyotes. Once sufficient data have been collected for these individuals, lethal removal will take place in which 1-2 resident coyotes will be removed as part of the agency management program. We will continue to monitor radiocollared coyotes following removal for at least 6 months.

We will compare movement patterns and habitat use of coyotes before and following removal treatments. We also will determine if residency or survival is affected by remaining coyotes following removal. Finally, we will compare the frequency of nuisance complaints within the study sites to determine if conflicts were reduced following removal.

3. TRAP-NEUTER-RELEASE AND MESOCARNIVORE DISEASE DYNAMICS

Background/Justification

Domestic cats may be the most abundant carnivores in North America. Accurate numbers are not available, however, estimates of feral cats in the United States range between 40 to 60 million cats. The problem is further compounded by an additional estimate of 40 million more domestic cats allowed to roam freely in suburban/urban areas (Hatley et al. 2003). Local abundance may be as high as 300 cats/km² in urbanized areas, which dwarfs densities of other abundant carnivores such as raccoons (Prange et al. 2003). Because of their high population numbers, free-ranging domestic cats can be major factors in the ecology of suburban/urban landscapes and can present management or control issues. In addition to locally high densities, free-ranging cats act as significant predators on wildlife, and can be important in the dynamics of wildlife diseases through their interactions with local wildlife.

Importance to public health

Free-ranging cats can represent human health issues given their locally high densities and typically low vaccination rates. Important zoonoses associated with free-ranging domestic cats include Toxoplasmosis gondii, feline distemper, and rabies. In an assessment of seroprevalence to Rochalimaea spp. among domestic cats in Baltimore, prevalence of seropositivity was much higher among feral cats than pet cats (Childs et al. 1994). Free-ranging domestic cats have been implicated in the transmission of feline leukemia virus to mountain lions (Jessup et al. 1993) and feline panleukopenia to the endangered Florida Panther (Roelke et al. 1993).

Indeed, domestic cats have had important roles in the ecology and management of raccoon rabies, especially from a public health perspective. Most people are exposed to raccoon rabies through contact with cats, rather than directly from raccoons. Free-ranging cats often come into contact with raccoons, and if they are unvaccinated they may perpetuate the disease through subsequent contacts with other animals, or serve as human health threats through their contacts with people. Spillover of terrestrial rabies from wildlife hosts to domestic animals most often occurs with cats. For example, in 2001 reported cases of rabies were more than 3 times higher in domestic cats than the next most common animals (dogs and cattle, Krebs et al. 2002, Fig. 1). That year was typical of most, with 270 cases of rabies in cats, with most coming from areas of enzootic raccoon rabies. A survey in 1999 found that all but one case of rabies in domestic cats was associated with terrestrial hosts (McQuiston et al. 2001). Consequently, in areas with raccoon rabies, people often need post-exposure rabies vaccinations because of contacts with domestic cats rather than with raccoons, and exposure to a rabid domestic animal with frequent contacts with people increases the costs of public health efforts to protect from the disease (Rotz et al. 1998, Krebs et al. 1998). Thus, one of the most important strategies for protecting the public from raccoon rabies is to increase vaccination rates for domestic cats (Krebs et al. 2002).

Recent research supported by the Environmental Research Program of the Cook County Animal and Rabies Control has focused on modeling the spread of raccoon rabies. To date, research has concentrated on raccoon dynamics and predicting the spread of rabies within raccoon populations. However, domestic cats probably play an important role in the dynamics of raccoon rabies in suburban/urban systems, but this role is poorly understood because of the lack of ecological research on domestic cats. Interactions between raccoons and cats have not been measured in any system to date, which limits the reliability of rabies models. Similarly, contact information among feral cats has never been quantified. Host contact rate is a fundamental aspect of disease dynamics, and is necessary to fully understand how certain pathogens function.

Methods and Results to date:

To understand the effectiveness of cat colonies for population management, their role in human health issues, and their effects on native wildlife, we established colonies at six sites beginning in late 2009 and early 2010. Each site had a shelter with an automatic feeder, and water dishes. Technicians visited each site at 2-3 day intervals to replace food and water. Each feeding station was monitored with remote cameras to record cat use, especially use by uncollared cats, and other mesocarnivores.

Cats were either captured on site and radiocollared or were acquired from animal control as unadoptable, feral, cats captured on or near forest preserves. Any cat captured on site or by animal control were inspected for evidence of pet ownership (microchips, notched ear, behavior and physical characteristics) and returned without further handling if it was suspected to be an owned cat. All suitable, feral, cats were microchipped, vaccinated and sterilized by veterinarians prior to radiocollaring and release. In addition, we routinely collected serum samples prior to release, although this was not always possible. In addition, a few animals were too small or otherwise unfit for radiocollars; but were released at the sites because we could still monitor their presence with cameras.

In addition to monitoring domestic cats, we conducted livetrapping at each site each year for mesocarnivores, including raccoons, opossums, and striped skunks. We captured, marked, and collected blood samples from these species to monitor the effects of cats and the constant food source on the resident species. A subsample of mesocarnivores was radiocollared at each site.

Radiocollared mesocarnivores were radiotracked consistently through the year to record movements and to recover individuals that died during the study.

We began capturing and radiocollaring mesocarnivores at each site in 2009, and then added cats to the monitoring in late 2009 and early 2010. By April 2010, all study sites had resident cats established with each colony. However, many cats left study sites or died from various causes. As the number of cats decreased on site, we added more cats to maintain a number between 5 and 10 at each site.

The following provides a brief outline of our activities related to this project each year of the study:

2009 – radiocollared resident mesocarnivores at each site, began introducing cats to some sites at the end of the year.

2010 – radiocollared resident mesocarnivores and introduce cats to each site. Continued feeding station maintenance and monitoring. Radiotracking throughout the year. Added cats to replace those lost to dispersal or mortalities.

2011 – radiocollared resident mesocarnivores to maintain samples for radiotracking. Added cats to replace those lost to dispersal or mortalities, until August. After August, we have not added cats to sites to document the decline of colonies, except for one study site where we needed to monitor cat-raccoon interactions during the winter. Radiotracking throughout the year. Continued feeding station maintenance and monitoring.

2012 – Radiotracking existing radiocollared mesocarnivores at all sites with existing cats. Contact collars will be placed on the last colony site for monitoring during spring/summer. We will continue feeding station maintenance and monitoring as long as study cats are using the feeding stations. No cats will be added to sites. We will continue radiotracking radiocollared individuals for the rest of the year. Serology on raccoon and cat samples.

Table 1 provides the numbers of cats released at each study site, and their status/fate, as of March 15 2012. These numbers are cumulative from 2009 to present. Six cats were not radiocollared and are not represented in the table. We are currently tracking 14 cats.

mesocarnivore species present at each site was the raccoon. The number of animals radiocollared by species was 138 cats, 85 raccoons, 8 opossums, and 2 skunks. The relatively large number of radiocollared cats was the result of many cats dispersing from release sites, and mortality following release. We are currently tracking 14 cats and 36 other mesocarnivores (most are raccoons, but a few opossums are included).

Serum samples have been collected from raccoons and cats for serology analysis. These will be completed in 2012.

WORK TO BE DONE:

1. Determine the frequency of interactions between free-ranging cats and raccoons using contact collars developed for our rabies research.
2. Incorporate contact rates between raccoons and free-ranging cats as well as population dynamic information on both species into a larger raccoon rabies modeling effort.
3. Determine the response of native mesocarnivores and their pathogens to the presence, and absence, of colonies.
4. Presentation of results in scientific journals, presentations at professional meetings, and the publication of materials for the general public.

4. RACCOON POPULATION DYNAMICS AND MOVEMENTS IN THE URBAN CORE

Considerable research effort has focused on the urban ecology of raccoons, including multiple studies and monitoring efforts in Cook County. However, nearly all of our existing information on urban raccoons has come from studies conducted within parks or patches of natural habitat within the urban matrix. Indeed, urban raccoon populations appear to occur at their highest densities in woodland fragments embedded within the urban matrix (Rosatte et al. 1991, Riley et al. 1998, Prange et al. 2003). There are few, if any, studies of raccoons residing in the urban core (i.e., downtown areas). Little is known as to how raccoons use the urban matrix (e.g., residential, commercial, and industrial areas), and whether the patterns observed for raccoons associated with urban parks are similar to the urban landscape.

A better understanding of raccoon use of the urban core has important practical implications. Raccoons host a variety of zoonoses, most notably raccoon strain rabies, which has presented a management challenge in urban areas across the eastern United States. Similarly, exposure to another raccoon zoonotic disease agent, raccoon roundworm (Baylisascaris procyonis), is most likely to occur in the urban matrix, such as residential neighborhoods adjacent to forested parks (Page et al. 2008). Property damage is also an important issue, as raccoons also are one of the predominant nuisance wildlife species in cities across North America (Gehrt 2003).

To determine the population densities, movement patterns, and disease prevalence for raccoon inhabiting the urban core of Chicago, we will employ standard livetrapping techniques combined with new GPS radiocollars. Two areas will be selected with the assistance of other agencies for livetrapping work.

Population Density

We will identify study sites in cooperation with animal control agencies. These will be sites that have had chronic complaints regarding raccoons in densely populated areas. Once the sites have been selected, we will trap raccoons with live traps (Tomahawk Live Trap Co., Tomahawk, WI) that are baited with commercial canned cat food. We will place traps opportunistically in areas likely to capture raccoons. Captured raccoons will be immobilized with 0.2 ml of Telazol^R, (Fort Dodge Animal Health, Fort Dodge, Iowa) weighed, measured, sexed and aged by tooth wear (Grau et al. 1970). We will mark all captured raccoons with Monel # 4 ear tags (National Band and Tag Company, Newport, Kentucky). Raccoons will be released at the capture location in the evening of the day of capture. Trapping will continue for 10-15 nights, in the spring and again in the autumn.

Density estimates for each site will be estimated from initial trapping periods with the heterogeneity model $M(h)$ in program Mark (White and Garrott 1990), using CAPTURE (Otis et al. 1978). We will use a closed population model because we assumed limited immigration/emigration and death during the trapping period. The heterogeneity model is the most appropriate model for raccoons because the probability of capture typically varies among individuals, especially with gender (Gehrt and Fritzell 1996). Density estimates will be derived from a minimum trapping area, which is defined as the total area used by raccoons from radiotelemetry data during the initial 10-day trapping period.

Movements

A subset of 16 raccoons (8M, 8F) from each area will be fitted with GPS radiocollars (LOTEK, Halifax, Canada), which are a combination of VHF and GPS transmitters. We will program GPS collars to obtain radiolocations during nightly tracking sessions (sequential locations separated by 1-2 hrs), during a 6-month season each year. Two sites will be monitored each year, beginning with the spring trapping session.

We will import raccoon locations into ArcGIS, with habitat layers combined with urban planning commission data for spatial analyses. We will use 95% adaptive kernel models to develop utilization distributions with a focus on habitat use within the urban core. A minimum of 30 locations per raccoon per period will be obtained to construct utilization distributions. Home range contours and radiolocations will be overlaid with habitat coverages from the city. We will determine where the raccoons focus their activities at night as well as their resting sites during the day.

Probability contours will be used to estimate risk levels for the public and to identify sites for potential management operations. Finally, we will link movement and risk spatial data to human social data to determine linkages, or lack thereof, between city landscape characteristics and raccoon-human contact. Different types of residence have been specifically associated with disparate risks of human exposures for wildlife diseases such as rabies (Moore et al. 2000, Wilson et al. 1997). Thus, we will generate a human population map from U.S. Census data. Spatial features combining parks, raccoon, and human data, including pooled raccoon contours, landuse data, housing type, proximity to vegetation, and access to water will be weighted in a GIS to generate a residence-based risk.

In the event Contractor shall breach any material terms or conditions of this Contract on more than one occasion during any twelve month period during the term hereof, or in the event Contractor expresses an unwillingness or inability to continue performing the Contract in accordance with its terms, the County may, at its option, declare the Contractor to be in default and the County shall be entitled to exercise all available remedies including, but not limited to, termination of the Contract, without affording the Contractor further opportunity to cure such breach. Failure of County to give written notice of breach to the Contractor shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the County's right to assert such breach at a later time; should the Contractor commit a subsequent breach of this Contract.

GC-13 COUNTY'S REMEDIES

Following notice of material breach to Contractor, the County reserves the right to withhold payments otherwise owed to Contractor until such time as Contractor has cured the breach.

If the Contractor fails to remedy a material breach during the ten (10) day cure period pursuant to General Condition GC-12, Default, or if Contractor commits a subsequent material breach within a twelve month period or expresses an unwillingness or inability to continue performing the Contract in accordance with its terms, the County shall have the right to terminate this Contract upon written notice to the Contractor which shall set forth the effective date of such termination.

In addition, the County shall have the right to pursue all remedies in law or equity.

GC-14 CONTRACTOR'S REMEDIES

Contractor shall have the right to pursue all remedies available in law or equity. In all cases the Contractor's damages shall be those actual provable damages not to exceed the amount of the Contract as awarded by the Cook County Board of Commissioners less all amounts paid to Contractor. In no event shall Contractor be entitled to any consequential damages. Irrespective of the exercise of remedies hereunder, Contractor shall not disrupt the County's operations or repossess any component thereof.

GC-15 DELAYS

Contractor agrees that no charges or claims for damages shall be made by Contractor for any delays or hindrances from any cause whatsoever during the progress of any portion of this Contract.

The parties may during the term of the Contract make modifications and amendments to the Contract but only as provided in this section. Such modifications and amendments shall only be made by mutual agreement in writing.

In the case of Contracts not approved by the Board, the Chief Procurement Officer may amend a contract provided that any such amendment does not extend the Contract by more than one (1) year, and further provided that the total cost of all such amendments does not increase the total amount of the Contract beyond $150,000. Such action may only be made with the advance written approval of the Chief Procurement Officer. If the amendment extends the Contract beyond one (1) year or increases the total award amount beyond $150,000, then Board approval will be required.

In the case of Contracts approved by the Board, the total cost of all such amendments shall not increase the Contract by more than 10% of the original contract award and the term may only be extended for up to one (1) year. Such action may only be made with the advance written approval of the Chief Procurement Officer.

In the case of Contracts approved by the Board, modifications and amendments which individually or cumulatively result in additional costs of greater than 10% of the original awarded amount or which extend the term of the Contract by more than one (1) year shall be deemed as authorized with the advance approval of the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

No County department or employee thereof has authority to make any modifications or amendments to this Contract. Any modifications or amendments to this Contract made without the express written approval of the Chief Procurement Officer is void and unenforceable.

Contractor agrees to hold harmless and indemnify the County, its officers, agents, employees and affiliates from and defend, at its own expense (including reasonable attorneys', accountants' and consultants' fees), any suit or proceeding brought against County based upon a claim that the ownership and/or use of equipment, hardware and software or any part thereof provided to the County or utilized in performing Contractor's services constitutes an infringement of any patent, copyright or license or any other property right.

In the event the use of any equipment, hardware or software or any part thereof is enjoined, Contractor with all reasonable speed and due diligence shall provide or otherwise secure for County, at the Contractor's election, one of the following: the right to continue use of the equipment, hardware or software; an equivalent system having the Specifications as provided in this Contract; or Contractor shall modify the system or its component parts so that they become non-infringing while performing in a substantially similar manner to the original system, meeting the requirements of this Contract.

GC-18 COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAWS

The Contractor shall observe and comply with the laws, ordinances, regulations and codes of the Federal, State, County and other local government agencies which may in any manner affect the performance of the Contract including, but not limited to, those County Ordinances set forth in the Certifications attached hereto and incorporated herein. Assurance of compliance with this requirement by the Contractor's employees, agents or subcontractors shall be the responsibility of the Contractor.

COOK COUNTY ORDINANCE CHAPTER 10-43.7 PROFESSIONAL AND CONSULTING SERVICE AND SOLE SOURCE

I. POLICY AND GOALS

- A. It is the policy of the County of Cook to prevent discrimination in the award of or participation in the County contracts and to eliminate arbitrary barriers for participation, as both prime and subcontractors, in such contracts by local businesses certified as Minority Business Enterprises (MBE) and Women-Owned Business Enterprises (WBE). In furtherance of this policy, the Cook County Board of Commissioners has adopted a Minority-and-Women-Owned Business Enterprise Ordinance (the "Ordinance") which establishes a "best efforts" goal of awarding not less than thirty-five percent (35%) of the annual total dollar amount of professional, consulting service and sole source contracts and agreements to certified MBEs and WBEs.
- B. A Proposer may achieve the MBE/WBE participation goals by its status as a MBE or WBE; by entering into a joint venture with one or more MBEs and/or WBEs; by subcontracting a portion of the work to one or more MBEs or WBEs; by entering into a Mentor-Protégé Agreement with a MBE or WBE; by the indirect participation of MBEs or WBEs in other aspects of the Proposer's business; or by a combination of the foregoing.

- C. A Waiver Request must be submitted with the Proposal, documenting the inability of the Proposer to meet the goals, and providing written evidence of "Good Faith Efforts," to obtain goals.
- D. A Proposer's failure to carry out its MBE/WBE commitments in the course of performance on a contract shall constitute a material breach of the contract, and if such breach is not appropriately cured, may result in the termination of the contract or such other remedies authorized by the Ordinance as the County deems appropriate.

II. REQUIRED SUBMITTALS

To be considered responsive to the requirements of the Ordinance, a Proposer shall submit items A, B and C listed below. All documentation submitted shall be reviewed by the Contract Compliance Administrator. Failure to submit one of the items required shall be cause to consider a contract non-responsive to the Ordinance goals and may be rejected.

A. MBE/WBE Participation Documentation

Each Proposer shall submit supporting documentation which evidences efforts taken to achieve the County's "best efforts" MBE/WBE participation goals. Such documentation shall include:

1. A Utilization Plan identifying all firms intended to be utilized to fulfill the goals; the MBE/WBE status of each firm; the name, address, e-mail address and telephone number of the contact person for each MBE/WBE firm; the dollar value of the goods and services to be provided by the MBE/WBE firm; and the dollar value expressed as a percentage (%) of the total value of the proposed contract. (See Section I)
2. A Letter of Intent for each MBE/WBE containing specific information regarding goods to be provided or services to be performed by the MBE/WBE; the dollar value of the goods or services, the percentage (%) of the dollar value; and the original signatures of the appropriate officer for both the Proposer and the MBE/WBE. (See Exhibit II)
3. Current Letter of Certification for each MBE/WBE firm. Acceptable certifying agencies are: Cook County, Illinois Unified Certification Program (IUCP) and U. S. Small Business Administration. 4. Waiver/Goal Reduction Petition must be included at the time of the submission of the Proposal document. Where the Proposer does not include all documentation in support of the Petition at the time of submission, such documentation must be submitted to the Office of Contract Compliance not less than three (3) business days after the submission date.

GC-19 MINORITY AND WOMEN BUSINESS ENTERPRISES
COOK COUNTY ORDINANCE CHAPTER 10-43.7 PROFESSIONAL AND

If Contractor carries out any of its duties under the Agreement through a subcontract with a related organization involving a value of cost of $10,000.00 or more over a 12 month period, Contractor will cause such subcontract to contain a clause to the effect that, until the expiration of four years after the furnishing of any service pursuant to said subcontract, the related organization will make available upon request of the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Comptroller General of the United States or any of their duly authorized representatives, copies of said subcontract and any books, documents, records and other data of said related organization that are necessary to certify the nature and extent of such costs. This paragraph relating to the retention and production of documents is included because of possible application of Section 1861(v)(1)(I) of the Social Security Act to this Agreement; if this Section should be found to be inapplicable, then this paragraph shall be deemed inoperative and without force and effect.

GC-41 FEDERAL CLAUSES

1. Interest of Members of or Delegates to the United States Congress

In accordance with 41 U.S.C. § 22, the Contractor agrees that it will not admit any member of or delegate to the United States Congress to any share or part of the Contract or any benefit derived therefrom.

2. False or Fraudulent Statements and Claims

(a) The Contractor recognizes that the requirements of the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act of 1986, as amended, 49 U.S.C. §§ 3081 et seq and U.S. DOT regulations, "Program Fraud Civil Remedies," 49 C.F.R. Part 31, apply to its actions pertaining to the Contract. Accordingly, by signing the Contract, the Contractor certifies or affirms the truthfulness and accuracy of any statement it has made, it makes, or it may make pertaining to the Contract, including without limitation any invoice for its services. In addition to other penalties that may be applicable, the Contractor also acknowledges that if it makes a false, fictitious, or fraudulent claim, statement, submission, or certification, the Federal Government reserves the right to impose the penalties of the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act of 1986, as amended, on the Contractor to the extent the Federal Government deems appropriate.

(b) The Contractor also acknowledges that if it makes a false, fictitious, or fraudulent claim, statement, submission, or certification to the County or Federal Government in connection with an urbanized area formula project financed with Federal assistance authorized by 49 U.S.C. § 5307, the Government reserves the right to impose on the Contractor the penalties of 18 U.S.C. § 1001 and 49 U.S.C. § 5307(n)(1), to the extent the Federal Government deems appropriate.

3. Federal Interest in Patents

(a) General. If any invention, improvement, or discovery of the Contractor is conceived or first actually reduced to practice in the course of or under the Contract, and that invention, improvement, or discovery is patentable under the laws of the United States of America or any foreign country, the Contractor agrees to notify County immediately and provide a detailed report.

(b) Federal Rights. Unless the Federal Government later makes a contrary determination in writing, the rights and responsibilities of the County, Contractor, and the Federal Government pertaining to that invention, improvement, or discovery will be determined in accordance with applicable Federal laws and regulations, including any waiver thereof. Unless the Federal Government later makes a contrary determination in writing, the Contractor agrees that, irrespective of its status or the status of any subcontractor at any tier (e.g., a large business, small business, non-profit organization, institution of higher education, individual), the Contractor agrees it will transmit to the Federal Government those rights due the Federal Government in any invention resulting from the contract.

4. Federal Interest in Data and Copyrights

- (a) Definition. The term "subject data" used in this section means recorded information, whether or not copyrighted, that is delivered or specified to be delivered under the Contract. Examples include, but are not limited, to: computer software, engineering drawings and associated lists, specifications, standards; process sheets, manuals, technical reports, catalog item identifications, and related information. The term "subject data" does not include financial reports, cost analyses, and similar information incidental to Contract administration.
- (b) Federal Restrictions. The following restrictions apply to all subject data first produced in the performance of the Contract. Except as provided in the Contract and except for its own internal use, the Contractor may not publish or publicly reproduce subject data in whole or in part, or in any manner or form, nor may the Contractor authorize others to do so, without the written consent of the County and the Federal Government, until such time as the Federal Government may have either released or approved the release of such data to the public.
- (c) Federal Rights in Data and Copyrights. In accordance with subparts 34 and 36 of the Common Rule, the County and the Federal Government reserve a royalty-free, non-exclusive and irrevocable license to reproduce, publish, or otherwise use, and to authorize others to use, for County or Federal Government purposes, the types of subject data described below. Without the copyright owner's consent, the County and Federal Government may not extend their license to other parties.
- (1) Any subject data developed under the contract or subagreement financed by a federal Grant Agreement or Cooperative Agreement, whether or not a copyright has been obtained; and
 - (2) Any rights of copyright which the Contractor purchases ownership with Federal assistance.
- (d) Special Federal Rights for Planning Research and Development Projects. When the Federal Government provides financial assistance for a planning, research, development, or demonstration project, its general intention is to increase public knowledge, rather than limit the benefits of the project to participants in the project. Therefore, unless the Federal Government determines otherwise, the Contractor on a planning, research, development, or demonstration project agrees that, in addition to the rights in data and copyrights set forth above, the County or Federal Government may make available to any third party either a license in the copyright to the subject data or a copy of the subject data. If the project is not completed for any reason whatsoever, all data developed under the project will become subject data and will be delivered as the County or Federal Government may direct. This subsection, however, does not apply to adaptations of automatic data processing equipment or previously existing software programs for the County's use whose costs are financed with Federal transportation funds for capital projects.

- (e) Hold Harmless. Unless prohibited by state law, upon request by the County or the Federal Government, the Contractor agrees to indemnify, save, and hold harmless the County and the Federal Government and their officers, agents, and employees acting within the scope of their official duties against any liability, including costs and expenses, resulting from any willful or intentional violation by the Contractor of proprietary rights, copyrights, or right of privacy, arising out of the publication, translation, reproduction, delivery, use, or disposition of any data furnished under the Contract. The Contractor will not be required to indemnify the County or Federal Government for any such liability arising out of the wrongful acts of employees or agents of the County or Federal Government.
- (f) Restrictions on Access to Patent Rights. Nothing contained in this section on rights in data will imply a license to the County or Federal Government under any patent or be construed as affecting the scope of any license or other right otherwise granted to the County or Federal Government under any patent.
- (g) Application on Materials Incorporated into Project. The requirements of Subsections 2, 3, and 4 of this Section do not apply to material furnished by the County and incorporated into the work.

5. Records and Audits

Contractor will deliver or cause to be delivered all documents (including but not limited to all Deliverables and supporting data, records, graphs, charts and notes) prepared by or for the County under the terms of this Agreement to the County promptly in accordance with the time limits prescribed in this Contract, and if no time limit is specified, then upon reasonable demand therefor or upon termination or completion of the Services hereunder. In the event of the failure by the Contractor to make such delivery, then and in that event, the Contractor will pay to County reasonable damages the County may sustain by reason thereof.

The County and the Federal Government will have the right to audit all payments made to the Contractor under this Agreement. Any payments to the Contractor which exceed the amount to which the Contractor is entitled under the terms of this Agreement will be subject to set-off.

The Contractor will keep and retain records relating to this Agreement and will make such records available to representatives of the County and the Federal Government, including without limitation the sponsoring federal agency, other participating agencies, and the Comptroller General of the United States, at reasonable times during the performance of this Agreement and for at least five years after termination of this Agreement for purposes of audit, inspection, copying, transcribing and abstracting.

No provision in this Agreement granting the County or the Federal Government a right of access to records is intended to impair, limit or affect any right of access to such records which the County or the Federal Government would have had in the absence of such provisions.

6. Environmental Requirements

The Contractor recognizes that many Federal and state laws imposing environmental and resource conservation requirements may apply to the Contract. Some, but not all, of the major Federal Laws that may affect the Contract include: the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321 et seq.; the Clean Air Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 7401 et seq. and scattered sections of 29 U.S.C.; the Clean Water Act, as amended, scattered sections of 33 U.S.C. and 12 U.S.C.; the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 6901 et seq.; and the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 9601 et seq. The Contractor also recognizes that U.S. EPA, U.S. DOT and other agencies of the Federal Government have issued and are expected in the future to issue regulations, guidelines, standards, orders, directives, or other requirements that may affect the Contract. Thus, the Contractor agrees to adhere to, and impose on its subcontractors, any such Federal requirements as the Federal Government may now or in the future promulgate. Listed below are requirements of particular concern. The Contractor acknowledges that this list does not constitute the Contractor's entire obligation to meet all Federal environmental and resource conservation requirements. The Contractor will include these provisions in all subcontracts.

- (a) Environmental Protection. The Contractor agrees to comply with the applicable requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321 et seq. in accordance with Executive Order No. 12898, "Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations," 59 Fed. Reg. 7629, Feb. 16, 1994; U.S. DOT statutory requirements on environmental matters at 49 U.S.C. § 5324(b); Council on Environmental Quality regulations on compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended, 40 C.F.R. Part 1500 et seq.; and U.S. DOT regulations, "Environmental Impact and Related Procedures," 23 C.F.R. Part 771 and 49 C.F.R. Part 622.
- (b) Air Quality. The Contractor agrees to comply with all applicable standards, orders, or regulations issued pursuant to the Clean Air Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §§ 7401 et seq. Specifically, the Contractor agrees to comply with applicable requirements of U.S. EPA regulations, "Conformity to State of Federal Implementation Plans of Transportation Plans, Programs, and Projects Developed, Funded or Approved Under Title 23 U.S.C. or the Federal Transit Act," 40 C.F.R. Part 51, Subpart T; and "Determining Conformity of Federal Actions to State or Federal Implementation Plans," 40 C.F.R. Part 93. The Contractor further agrees to report and require each subcontractor at any tier to report any violation of these requirements resulting from any Contract implementation activity to the County and the appropriate U.S. EPA Regional Office.
- (c) Clean Water. The Contractor agrees to comply with all applicable standards, orders, or regulations issued pursuant to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended, 33 U.S.C. §§ 1251 et seq. The Contractor further agrees to report and require each subcontractor at any tier to report any violation of these requirements resulting from any Contract implementation activity to the County and the appropriate U.S. EPA Regional Office.
- (d) List of Violating Facilities. The Contractor agrees that any facility to be used in the performance of the Contract or to benefit from the Contract will not be listed on the U.S. EPA List of Violating Facilities ("List"), and the Contractor will promptly notify the County if the Contractor receives any communication from the U.S. EPA that such a facility is under consideration for inclusion on the List.

- (e) Preference for Recycled Products. To the extent practicable and economically feasible and to the extent that it does not reduce or impair the quality of the work, the Contractor agrees to use recycled products in performance of the Contract pursuant to U.S. Environment Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) guidelines at 40 C.F.R. Parts 247-253, which implement section 6002 of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 6962.

7. No Exclusionary or Discriminatory Specifications

Apart from inconsistent requirements imposed by Federal statute or regulations, the Contractor agrees that it will comply with the requirements of 49 U.S.C. § 5323(h)(2) by refraining from using any Federal assistance to support subcontracts procured using exclusionary or discriminatory specifications.

8. Cargo Preference - Use of United States Flag Vessels

The Contractor agrees to comply with U.S. Maritime Administration regulations, "Cargo-Preference -- U.S. Flag Vessels," 49 C.F.R. Part 381, and to include the clauses required by those regulations, modified as necessary to identify the affected parties, in each subcontract or subagreement involving equipment, materials, or commodities suitable for transport by ocean vessel.

9. Fly America

Section 14.c of the Master Agreement states that if the contract or subcontracts may involve the international transportation of goods, equipment, or personnel by air, the contract must require Contractors and subcontractors at every tier to use U.S.-flag air carriers, to the extent service by these carriers is available. 49 U.S.C. 40118 and 4 C.F.R. Part 52.

10. No Federal Government Obligations to Third Parties

The Contractor agrees that, absent the Federal Government's express written consent, the Federal Government will not be subject to any obligations or liabilities to any contractor or any other person not a party to the Grant Agreement or Cooperative Agreement between the County and the Federal Government which is a source of funds for this Contract. Notwithstanding any concurrence provided by the Federal Government in or approval of any solicitation, agreement, or contract, the Federal Government continues to have no obligations or liabilities to any party, including the Contractor.

11. Allowable Costs

Notwithstanding any compensation provision to the contrary, the Contractor's compensation under this Contract will be limited to those amounts which are allowable and allocable to the Contract in accordance with OMB Circular A-87 and the regulations in 49 C.F.R. Part 18. To the extent that an audit reveals that the Contractor has received payment in excess of such amounts, the County may offset such excess payments against any future payments due to the Contractor and, if no future payments are due or if future payments are less than such excess, the Contractor will promptly refund the amount of the excess payments to the County.

GC-41 FEDERAL CLAUSES (CON'T.)

12. Trade Restrictions

Contractor certifies that neither it nor any Subcontractor:

- (a) is owned or controlled by one or more citizens of a foreign country included in the list of countries that discriminate against U.S. firms published by the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR);
- (b) has knowingly entered into any contract or subcontract with a person that is a citizen or national of a foreign country on said list, nor is owned or controlled directly or indirectly by one or more citizens or nationals of a foreign country on said list;
- (c) will procure, subcontract for, or recommend any product that is produced in a foreign country on said list.

Unless the restrictions of this clause are waived by the Secretary of Transportation in accordance with 49 CFR 30.17, no Notice-to-Proceed will be issued to an entity who is unable to certify to the above. If Contractor knowingly procures or subcontracts for the supply of any product or service of a foreign country on said list for use on the project, the USDOT may direct, through the County, cancellation of the Contract at no cost to the Government.

Further, Contractor agrees that it will incorporate this provision for certification without modification in each subcontract. Contractor may rely on the certification of a prospective Subcontractor unless it has knowledge that the certification is erroneous. Contractor will provide immediate written notice to the County if it learns that its certification or that of a Subcontractor was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances. Each Subcontractor must agree to provide written notice to Contractor if at any time it learns that its certification was erroneous by reason of changed circumstances. Nothing contained in the foregoing will be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render, in good faith, the certification required by this provision. The knowledge and information of the Contractor is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealings.

This certification concerns a matter within the jurisdiction of an agency of the United States of America and the making of a false, fictitious, or fraudulent certification may render the maker subject to prosecution under Title 18, United States Code, Section 100

13. Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act

15. Copyright Ownership

Consultant and the County intend that, to the extent permitted by law, the Deliverables to be produced by Consultant at the County's instance and expense pursuant to this Agreement are conclusively deemed "works made for hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101 et seq. (the "Copyright Act"), and that the County will be the copyright owner of the Deliverables and of all aspects, elements and components of them in which copyright can subsist.

To the extent that any Deliverable does not qualify as a "work made for hire," Consultant irrevocably grants, conveys, bargains, sells, assigns, transfers and delivers to the County, its successors and assigns, all right, title and interest in and to the copyrights and all U.S. and foreign copyright registrations, copyright applications and copyright renewals for them, and other intangible, intellectual property embodied in or pertaining to the Deliverables prepared for the County under this Agreement, free and clear of any liens, claims or other encumbrances, to the fullest extent permitted by law. Consultant will execute all documents and perform all acts that the County may reasonably request in order to assist the County in perfecting its rights in and to the copyrights relating to the Deliverables, at the sole expense of the County. Consultant warrants to County, its successors and assigns, that on the date of transfer Consultant is the lawful owner of good and marketable title in and to the copyrights for the Deliverables and has the legal rights to fully assign them. If the above standards are inconsistent, the Consultant must comply with the standard providing the greatest accessibility. Also, the Consultant must, prior to construction, review the plans and specifications to insure compliance with the above referenced standards. If the Consultant fails to comply with the foregoing standards, the Consultant must perform again, at no expense, all services required to be re-performed as a direct or indirect result of such failure.
